Overview

Tara counsels US and foreign based public and private companies, including private equity funds, holding companies and family offices, portfolio companies of capital providers, business owners, venture firms, and investors on a wide range of topics, such as domestic and cross-border acquisitions and divestitures, joint venture and strategic alliances, capital raises, corporate governance, compliance and general business matters. Recognized for providing a practical, business oriented and solutions-based approach, she is regularly sought out to provide strategic advice to clients. Her clients operate in a variety of industries, including financial services and insurance, automotive insurance (F&I), warranties, financial technology, accounting, consulting, telecommunications, health and beauty, media and entertainment, outsourcing, real estate and technology.

Due to her breadth of experience in both buy and sell side work, as well her work with both strategic and financial clients, Tara knows the issues and pressure points on both sides of the negotiating table and can navigate them efficiently and effectively. Her goal is to partner with each client, whether a technology start-up or a Fortune 500 company.
